Family Fest at All Saints Camp this past Labor Day weekend was AMAZING! There were families and friends from near and far for a weekend full of fellowship, fun and relaxation! We had close to 100 people join us throughout the weekend for the various activities or just to say “Hello!” It was great to see old faces and new faces during the weekend!

We were honored to have Metropolitan Antony celebrate Divine Liturgy with us on Sunday and bless the new bell tower adjacent to St. Thomas Chapel. Metropolitan Antony was joined in the Divine Liturgy Celebration by Fr. John Haluszczak, Fr. Deacon James Cairns and several Seminarians. The bell tower was constructed by several volunteers over the past year and will be able to bring us all together when services are about to begin. We thank the many individuals involved, in one way or another, to make sure the bell tower became a reality.

You might say the weekend started off with a roar, when an unexpected rain storm arrived Friday evening. However, now we know how nice it is to eat a pierogie dinner by candle light in the Dining Hall! Even though the storm provided everyone with some challenges, the attendees took it all in stride and carried on with lively conversation throughout the evening.

Saturday morning, after Prayers and breakfast, we all headed down to the field for the Annual “Family Fest Kickball Game.” While the teams tried to outdo each other, the game ended in a tie. The amount of fun had by young and old, players and cheerleaders, was great! The afternoon allowed for free time, swimming or sports. Before Vespers on Saturday, a workshop, “Sing to the Lord a New Song,” was conducted by Carol Haluszczak. After Vespers and dinner, everyone gathered in the dining hall for our second of four weekend workshops. Josh Oryhon presented his workshop entitled “Sharing the Light Online.” He informed those in attendance of the various social media outlets currently being used by the UOC of USA, for publicizing and getting the “Word” out to everyone. Josh helped explain the use of “#,” hashtag usage and how it can help in providing information on various church events and happenings.

After brunch on Sunday, a presentation was held at the Pavilion by Cathy Bucharew. She spoke about her mission trips to Albania and Ukraine and provided a picture presentation as well. After an afternoon of swimming, relaxation and socializing, the last workshop was presented at the porch of St.

I was shocked at all this hullabaloo over same sex marriage and the fact that so many people see nothing wrong with it. That our own Supreme Court should see marriage as a right to all, is a dangerous and dangerous thing. Churches should not condone or administer gay marriage ceremonies.

There always could be a situation in which our church could be targeted as a cause celebre by gay rights activists wanting to punish our firm stance against any Orthodox Church blessing a same sex marriage. Although it is conceivable that such an attempt may be made on the Orthodox Church, the restrictive scope of whom a priest might marry, in comparison with other ministers, makes the comparison as between oranges and kiwi fruit.

What do I mean by this? Marrying Sam who runs the Chapel of the Wedding Bells on the Las Vegas Strip marries any couple who provides a valid marriage license. This is his business and for him to refuse those bearing a valid marriage license would be an overt discrimination. If he would object to a gay couple being married by him, how could he defend himself?

Some Protestant ministers may object for religious reasons, but they can officiate at a civil as well as a religious ceremony for bearers of valid marriage licenses. By this openness to do civil as well as religious weddings any refusal of a valid license would constitute an instance of discrimination, which practically invites a court case by litigious minded individuals.

Now an Orthodox priest, in some states after being registered may be the minister for marriage using a religious or a civil ceremony. Although legally endowed with the right to marry anyone, the Orthodox Church clearly delineates just who he may marry, under what circumstances and what ritual to use. Although empowered by the state to do so, an Orthodox priest may not do a civil ceremony. I have seen an example of this. In Oklahoma, an Orthodox priest became a great friend of some carnival folk at the State Fair. A couple who rode motorcycles in the Capsule of Doom wanted to get married in a civil ceremony and then ride off on their motorcycles, which was part of their dangerous act. Neither was Orthodox and so the Orthodox priest used a civil ceremony. He had been empowered by the state, but he was suspended by his Bishop for such actions can not be condoned by the Church.

Another difference is that mere presentation of a marriage license does not mean that a marriage might take place. One of those being married must be an Orthodox Christian and the other must be a baptized Christian. Strictures are such that marriage with a Muslim, Jew, Hindu or agnostic is absolutely impossible. If a partner was divorced, it must be ascertained whether he/she had been the cause of the breakup. A guilty partner may not be allowed to marry at all except under the express recommendation of the hierarchy. Strictly speaking, a great level of commitment is expected and the spiritual base of matrimony is emphasized. Saying that, it is a fact that the concept of marriage which the rest of the world has is almost completely different than the Orthodox view of the same.

Because matrimony is so highly regulated, the presentation of a marriage license is but the last thing considered. Homosexual acts are highly sinful and the Church in no way could ever bless a union in which this would be the blessed path of life. In a church where marriage can be contracted only under certain conditions and not open to all, we certainly cannot be judged as zeroing in on gays. Our stance has been the same for 2,000 years and not subject to fads or fancies.

Thanksgiving is the traditional beginning of the Nativity holiday season, which for Ukrainians means events and celebrations well into January. It is also a season during which people make a special effort to reach out to those less fortunate than they are and offer financial support to favorite charities and worthwhile causes.

Many of our chapters have long-standing traditions of offering Christian charity at this time of year. Some open their doors to serve a Thanksgiving meal while others volunteer their services at local community centers. In this issue of the UOL Bulletin there is an article from the Senior and Junior Christian Care Giving and Missions Commissions encouraging local UOL chapters to begin the season by reaching out to those in their communities in need. This continues a similar Thanksgiving Tithing program proposed last year, and it supports a parallel effort announced in a letter in August of this year that was sent to all parishes by Bishop Daniel and Reverend Deacon Mahlay. As this month’s Bulletin article explains, please let us know what your chapter did in a future issue of the Bulletin.

Also in this month’s Bulletin is an appeal asking you to remember the UOL in your year-end giving. The UOL’s Annual Fund Drive supports UOL Projects, the LSSK Scholarship Fund for current or former Junior UOL members attending college, and the Metropolitan John Scholarship Fund (MSJF) for seminarians. Please send your contributions to the UOL NEB Financial Secretary Alex Shevchuk at 1 Glenbrook Court, Whippany, NJ 07981-2313 (Please note the change from Linda Winters, who had previously managed the Annual Fund Drive in recent years).

With 25 students enrolled in St. Sophia Seminary’s full-time, part-time, and distance learning programs this year, your continued support for MSJF is needed more than ever. If you are in the South Bound Brook, NJ area on Saturday December 12, you can also support the students by attending their “Christmas at the Seminary” event from 1:00 to 5:30 PM. The event will feature Christmas-themed activities, including ornament making and cookie decorating. In the spirit of the upcoming feast of St. Nicholas, the event organizers request that you bring a tangible gift for the Seminary such as paper towels, cleaning products, printer paper, kitchen knives, paper plates, disposable utensils, and dry erase markers. These are all practical items that they need and use at the Seminary every day. If you attend the event, not only will you meet our seminarians, but they will have an opportunity to meet you and other UOL members and get a better appreciation of the UOL and our support for them in their studies. You or your UOL Chapter can also participate in this effort by mailing supplies to the Seminary in December.

You can find out more about this event at St. Sophia—as well as a “cookie walk” and Christmas Bazaar sponsored by the Holy Ascension Maplewood, NJ UOL Chapter with assistance from the St. Sophia Seminary UOL Chapter—by visiting the UOL website at www.uol.orthodoxws.com. In general, remember to advertise your UOL Chapter’s Thanksgiving, St. Nicholas, Christmas, and New Year events on the UOL website by sending an email to the NEB Public Relations Commission chair Karen Ferraro at kalmtrio@comcast.net.

On a somber note, we were saddened to learn of the falling asleep in the Lord of Very Rev. Fr. Anatoly Dohkhat, pastor of Sts. Peter and Paul Ukrainian Orthodox parish in Millville, NJ. Fr. Anatoly, age 41, succumbed to cancer on October 14. Along with his wife Pani Matka Yevheniya, he leaves behind two children Vita and Vladimir. The clergy of the UOC of USA have established a fund to provide financial assistance to his family going forward. Please consider making a donation to help them at gofundme.com/sx6hdnpw and please remember them in your prayers.

Yours in Christ,

It might seem like November is early to start thinking about attending a Lenten Retreat, but now is the time to mark your calendar and set aside the time. As we enter into the new year calendars get filled and somehow our plans to set aside time during Great Lent to learn more about our faith fade away. If you have never attended a UOL sponsored Lenten Retreat you might wonder what you can expect.

The morning starts with registration, morning prayers and breakfast. This year the Retreat will be at the St. Francis Retreat Center in Bethlehem. We have been at this center for several years and the sisters are incredibly warm and welcoming. They greet us with enthusiasm and lovingly prepare delicious meals that keep the fast. The retreat center itself sits on beautiful grounds and if the weather cooperates many individuals walk the grounds and enjoy the first signs of spring. This year the retreat will be April 2nd, so we might have blooms starting to peak out.

Following breakfast we have our initial speakers and overview. Father Anthony Perkins will be our primary speaker for this Retreat. This year, our Retreat will be focusing on the challenges that we face throughout our lifetime. We will be looking at stages of development from a psychological perspective first and then looking at how our Orthodox faith helps us to face these challenges. If you have not had the opportunity to be inspired by Fr. Anthony, you are missing out. He is absolutely wonderful!!

One aspect of the Retreat is the speakers, another equally important component of the Retreat is the fellowship. In my opinion, one of the greatest features of the Retreat is that individuals come together to learn from each other and to gather as a family in Christ. I am excited every year to see everyone. When we have someone who is unable to attend, we miss you. During the Retreat there are multiple breaks and we all gather in the large kitchen area to have snacks, but more importantly to nourish our friendships. We get to catch up and hear what others are doing, which feeds the soul.

The afternoon activities have varied from year to year. Sometimes we have a movie. Sometimes we have games that challenge the Retreat participant to answer questions about their faith. The games are challenging but fun.

The last session of the Retreat is always a question and answer period. This has become a mainstay of the East Coast Retreat. During this session, participants can ask questions about topics discussed or other topics. I have gotten feedback from Retreat participants that this opportunity to talk to clergy throughout the day, and specifically the ability to ask questions, is one of the best aspects of the Retreat.

Following the last session, the group gathers for Vespers. Finally the day ends with dinner. If you come every year for the Retreat, I can’t wait to see you again. If you have missed a few years, we hope to see you this year. If you have never attended and want to learn more about your faith and to nourish your soul during Great Lent, please join us.

So mark your calendar – the UOL Retreat is April 2, 2016. In fact, start making plans for 2017. The date is set, we invite you - April 1, 2017.

Why should I attend a Lenten Retreat sponsored by the UOL?

LESSON FROM THE JUNIOR UOL PRESIDENT

Kateryna Kocelko

Glory to Jesus Christ!

During the last meeting we discussed many topics for the upcoming year and looked over the goals for the year, which were established at the 2015 Convention in Northampton, Pennsylvania. Each chapter will be receiving information about some of the upcoming events in the UOL such as: Thanksgiving Tishing, “Soupér” Bowl Sunday, and Bring a Friend to Church Day. The board also talked about the upcoming 2016 Great Lent Giveaway.

This year we want to focus on getting the chapters more active and gaining new chapters. We are trying to create more projects in which chapters can work together to continue to be more active on the local and national level of the UOL.

The goal of the Junior National Executive Board is to create six new chapters by the end of the year and have all of them in attendance at this year’s Annual Convention. We were happy to hear that the chapter of Palos Park has reactivated, and we wish them the best of luck as they work together to do God’s work. Also we are working on making turning in forms easier and more convenient by putting them on the website.

If you haven’t already, please make sure you turn in your dues and roster forms to the Financial Secretary, Orest Mahlay. They were due September 30th, so please turn them in as soon as possible. Also please make sure your election report forms are turned in.

If there are ever any questions or concerns the board is always here if help is needed. Feel free to contact any one of us. I hope everyone has a blessed holiday season. Remember to take time to be thankful for everything that God has given you, throughout this holiday season, and try to do something good for those who are not as fortunate. I pray that everyone has a safe holiday and please do the same for the rest of the board and me.

In Christ’s Love,
Kateryna Kocelko

Lynn Sawchuk - Sharon Kuzbyt Scholarship

The Scholarship was established in 1975 to perpetuate the memory of two lovely, dynamic young women whose untimely deaths left an indelible mark in the life of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church.

In Loving and Blessed Memory of

Lynn Sawchuk - 1957-1974

Sharon Kuzbyt - 1959-1975

In the last forty years, the UOL has awarded over $175,000 to 148 deserving leaders and future leaders of our holy Church.

Please continue to support our mission to honor Lynn and Sharon’s memory by making a donation.

They can be mailed to:

St. Vladimir Senior UOL, Philadelphia, PA

Submitted by Natalie Bilynsky

Autumn is upon us and the busy season for St. Vladimir’s Senior UOL Chapter in Philadelphia is fast approaching. During the summer months chapter members gather every Wednesday to complete small projects. This summer we did the same with some Wednesdays focusing on cleaning out the refrigerators and kitchen, other days setting schedules for the coming year and other times preparing for our parish events (like our Basket Raffle and picnic). Wednesday summer evenings are nice in that we plan a potluck dinner and just have a time to touch base. We usually have a small consistent group that comes to the hall and sometimes we simply sit and talk. This year we planned one game night. If you know anything about the Philadelphia UOL chapter fun is a key ingredient of our events.

To end the summer we planned a bowling night and invited everyone from the parish. We were happy to welcome several new members into our chapter.

As you know we have been working to increase membership each year. At this moment we are hovering around eighty members. Our recruiting of new members goes on all year but we have specific membership drive events. At our first meeting of the year, we plan a potluck dinner and plan the schedule for our chapter. We have several consistent projects and continue to add to our schedule. We look forward to our fall activities, such as the Country Zabava and our Thanksgiving Dinner.

Thanksgiving Tithing
Submitted by Pani Matka Olena Sendeha

“All of this is for your benefit. And as God’s grace reaches more and more people, there will be great thanksgiving, and God will receive more and more glory.” 2 Corinthians 4:15

Thanksgiving is a time to reflect on our life and to count our numerous blessings that God has bestowed upon us. It is a perfect opportunity to express our thanks to the Lord through sharing those blessings with others.

Tithing is commonly understood as a donation of 10%. For this year’s Ukrainian Orthodox League national Thanksgiving project, we encourage local UOL chapters to identify beneficiaries of their Thanksgiving tithing in their local communities. Recipients could be local food banks, soup kitchens, homeless shelters, etc. Alternatively, maybe your parish would prefer to open its doors to serve the needy of your community directly on your own!

The National Board of the Ukrainian Orthodox League proposes that individuals collect receipts from their Thanksgiving celebration purchases and calculate 10% of the grand total. Your local chapter then collects the donations from individuals and families and donates a check (which could be rounded up with local chapter funds) to a chosen charity. We also encourage UOL members not only to donate money, but also if possible provide help by volunteering at those local community centers.

To ensure that your chapter is included in the recap of Thanksgiving activities, please submit a short article by January 1 with information about your donation and the beneficiary to nsufler@aol.com for publication in the UOL Bulletin.

Please direct questions to PM Olena Sendeha, Senior NEB Chair of the Christian Care Giving and Missions Commission at Olenkas5@yahoo.com, or to Orest Mahlay, Junior NEB Chair of the Christian Care Giving and Missions Commission at orest.mahlay@gmail.com.

Holy Ascension, Maplewood Remembers 9/11

Submitted by Michael J. Komichak

Holy Ascension in Maplewood, NJ held a September 11 Remembrance Dinner after Divine Liturgy on Sunday September 27. The Holy Ascension UOL chapter sponsors the annual event to honor and pray for those who lost their lives or were injured in the 2001 terrorist attacks. This year’s observance coincided with the Great Feast of the Elevation of the Holy Cross. While we mourn those who perished, we at the same time draw strength from the gift of the Life-Giving Cross.

In keeping with the fast for the day, the parish family shared a meal of baked tilapia, kapusta-filled varenyky topped with sauteed onions, mixed vegetables, salad, cured salmon, and homemade desserts. Our UOL chapter events always receive the enthusiastic support and full participation of our entire parish. We are grateful for the expert help in the kitchen before, during, and after the meal not only from all of our chapter members, but from many parishioners who are not chapter members. We are truly blessed to have a parish family where people proactively step in to help wherever they see a need, without waiting to be formally asked!

2016 UOL Annual Lenten Retreat – Villa Maria, PA

Submitted by Marianne Carmack
and the Western PA/Ohio Retreat Committee

YOU’RE INVITED. Plan to attend the 2016 Annual Lenten Retreat on Saturday, March 19, 2016, at Villa Maria Education and Spirituality Center in Villa Maria, Pennsylvania. Each year the UOL sponsors two national Lenten Retreats, one in Eastern Pennsylvania and one in Western Pennsylvania.

The theme of this year’s western retreat is: “Grace Shining Forth . . . Growing in Orthodoxy . . . Growing in Ministry.” There are three sessions: (1) Getting Ready to Shine (Boot Camp for the Soul), (2) Planting the Seed – Ministry to the Young, (3) Polishing the Apple - Ministry to the Young at Heart.

The retreat is a day of prayer, introspection, reflection and fellowship. There’s no substitute for connecting with others from across the Archdiocese. Learning about how other church families are reaching out to each other and their communities cultivates an energy and enthusiasm that helps us in our ministries and how we serve Christ.

His Grace, Bishop Daniel, will conduct the first session of the Retreat: Getting Ready to Shine (Boot Camp for the Soul). This session focuses on how Great Lent prepares us through prayer, self-examination, fasting, and worship to accept, rather than reject, the grace that God has given to us through the death and Resurrection of Christ. What is grace? How does grace enlighten our ministry to the young and young at heart? So, that we, too, can shine forth like a “beacon enlightening the universe.” His Grace will inspire, challenge us to take all the good things coming out of Great Lent and put them to use in our good works to others. Thus, rather than squandering what we’ve learned, we can spread God’s blessings to others.

Cristal Chaney, Ph.D., professor of Education at Point Park College in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, will conduct the “Planting the Seed – Ministry to the Young” segment of the Retreat. Dr. Chaney’s presentation and discussion will focus on developing insight and learning about what we, as a spiritual community (parents and the extended family), clergy, church members, church school teachers, advisors, coaches], need to know, what we need to do, and what we need to say to foster the spiritual formation and education of our children—our individual actions within a personal, day-to-day framework. We are given so many opportunities, personally, for “Grace to Shine forth” with our children. What are those opportunities? How do we inform our response? How do we serve Christ?

Cristal Chaney, Ph.D., has served as a professor of education at Point Park College in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania since 1990. Her main fields of instruction are the philosophical models of early childhood and elementary education. In addition to her teaching and advising responsibilities at Point Park, Chaney was the co-founder and director of Three Hierarchs Eastern Orthodox School, a private, non-public, non-profit religious school registered with the State of Pennsylvania Department of Education. Chaney has also spent the past several years working with the staff and children at the Hogar Ayau Raphael Orphanage in Guatemala City, Guatemala.

Registration begins in January. Look for more information about this retreat in upcoming issues of the UOL Bulletin.

2015 UOL Essay Contest
Submitted by Tabitha Bentley

Each year the UOL sponsors an Essay Contest. The theme for the 2015 Essay Contest was based on the Convention theme “Put off the old, put on the new man. Be children of God. Walk in Christ the Light.” Ephesians 4:24. This year there were 132 entries. The essay contest judges had a difficult time deciding upon the winners of the essay contest. The entries were judged for content, creativity and neatness. All award winners were announced at the UOL Convention in Northampton, PA. The first, second and third place winners received icons. All participants received a certificate for their participation in the contest. Thank you to all the Clergy, Sunday School Teachers, UOL members and parishioners who encouraged participation. We hope that you will consider entering the essay contest for the 2016 year!

Thomas Chapel, prior to the Memorial Service. Stephen Haluszczak provided a discussion on “Ukrainians in Western PA” along with some fascinating pictures for everyone to view. After the Memorial Service, the “Famous” Family Fest guests were able to walk the red carpet to their “famous family” table for a wonderful meal at the pavilion. Fr. Deacon Jim provided the main meal with his “famous” grilled chicken. With the theme of the evening being “Famous Families,” everyone was treated to several family trivia games during the evening, conducted by Natalie Kapeluck Nixon. It was fun to see “who knew” the answers! Cake, chocolate chip cookie cakes, and one of the favorite ASC desserts from the summer, Fruity Brownie Pizza, topped off the meal as desserts.

After breakfast on Monday, announcing the winner of the “how much candy in the jar” and the drawing of the ASC Summer Raffle, families cleaned up, packed and said so long until next year! Family Fest this year provided some unusual challenges in getting the weekend planned and executed. What made Family Fest so amazing this year was how everyone, and I mean EVERYONE, pitched in and helped in some fashion before, during and after the weekend. It truly was a “FAMILY FEST AFFAIR.”

I thank everyone from the bottom of my heart, and I am eagerly planning and awaiting Family Fest 2016!

deceased is borne to the grave and plopped in by workers with an indifferent attitude to the deceased. You are right, this is no way to be buried! This view was brought home to me in a rough way when a funeral ended at a state veterans cemetery. Full military honors were given in an ostensibly non-denominational structure. At the end we were bidden to go to the cars immediately.

I mentioned that in Orthodoxy the priest, at least, accompanies the casket to its final resting place and seals the grave. I was told that this was highly irregular and that special permission would have to be sought. I insisted and as it was too much bother to go through the red tape of seeking permission, they told me how to get to the grave site, but I was warned that I shouldn’t really go there. I found out why!

Coming to the grave site, I noticed a long deep trench as about twelve funerals were scheduled for that morning. One by one, a cement liner would be dropped higgledy-piggledy into place. As a truck brought the casket, a backloader would lift and literally drop it into the vault. A third machine would affix the vault cover and later a bulldozer would shove the dirt over the new row of caskets. I was barely given a moment to pray at a distance, as I was obstructing their procedures. If the family were to see such shoddy treatment of their loved one’s remains they would be aghast, but all is done behind scenes so who would know and who would care.

By the following week new sod would be down with temporary markers and all would appear beautiful and sanitized for the loved ones who might visit, never knowing what had gone on behind the scenes.

In the Orthodox funeral, the deceased is laid to rest after a brief litia service, which may take place in a chapel. The only change in the scenario is that the priest conveys the body to the very grave, which is sealed with the sign of the cross. Here is the finality of death and often the family stays while the coffin is lowered. The remains are given honor not only in the preparation of the body, at the funeral home, but in every instance to final committal in the grave.

As one can see from the case noted above, modern funeral practice can lead to indifferent handling of the deceased. A body, which in life has partaken of the Body and Blood of Christ, deserves to receive reverential treatment until it reaches its final resting place.

Don’t let the powerful funeral lobby dictate how a funeral is to be conducted and insist on regular Orthodox procedure. I remember that at one such cemetery chapel I was forbidden to use incense at the litia, because the smell might be offensive to others who might use that venue.
